

1101 Universal Transmitter

February 2018

Hardware Update

All 1101 Universal Transmitters are now being manufactured with Level B hardware. Updated devices will begin shipping on February 8, 2018.

New Tamper Design

1101 Universal Transmitters now feature an updated on-board tamper button design. The new design allows for additional travel by the tamper core prior to initiation of a tamper signal. This will allow the unit to be installed in more extreme field conditions and provide improved overall performance.
